

Editors' Observation

We were recently scanning through some old issues of the Lowrey Light and we came across many unusual items. For example, we came across these items in war issues of the Light and they served to remind that students today are not called upon to make the sacrifices made by an earlier generation.

Here are some samples of what we are talking about.

"This year the graduating class was told there would be no class pins.

This year due to the serious shortage of cleaning women as many as twenty-five to thirty of our rooms have to go uncleaned every night. We, the students of Lowrey School should try to do our bit in the Cleaning Program.

Today we're not going to talk about the newest fads. Today our motto is

Make it do;
Wear it out;
Don't buy new.

Every new sweater, dress or shirt you buy and don't absolutely need is sabotage.

For big, warm, outdoor socks buy yours in the boy's department. Turn down the tops and run a piece of knitting wool through the cuffs. Tie them snugly about your ankles and adorn the ends of wool with tassels.

Another use for Dad's discarded ties is to make them into hair bows. Sew names tapes on the bows which adorn the ends of pigtailed.

We are also striving to collect grease, silk hose and tin cans. Even the control of rats is being practiced.

The boys and girls are bringing many surprises for their Red Cross boxes. In Mrs. Sherman's room all the eighteen shoe ration stamps are disappearing and bright new shoes are taking their place."

These are excerpts taken from war issues of the Light.

Sr. Wins Art Award

Janice Pomerville, 12A, in Miss Hammond's homeroom, recently received a gold key for her entry in an art contest sponsored by Scholastic Magazine. The key is one of the two highest awards in the contest. This award was for a watercolor of a field scene.

Janice is on a general course and is highly interested in art. She hopes to continue in the field of art, teaching oral deaf students.

When asked how she felt about winning this award she replied; "I was really surprised when I read it in the newspaper. I was proud to get the Gold Key award."

More On Paintings

In this issue of the Lowrey Light we will feature the second article in the series on the various paintings around our school.

The fourth painting we will discuss is located on the first floor out side the nurse's office. The painting is entitled "Stone City" and it is by Grant Wood.

Wood was born in 1892 in Anamosa, Iowa. After the death of his father, when he was only ten, he moved with his mother and sister to Cedar Rapids. For the next nine years, he mowed lawns, milked cows, worked as a truck gardener, house painter, and carpenter, meanwhile teaching himself to draw in his leisure time. Later, he studied at the University of Iowa and the Chicago Art Institute.

His death in Iowa City in 1943 was a tragic loss to the art world, for the paintings he left behind were comparatively few. He painted an average of two pictures a year.

Behind The Scenes

There is much more to the theater than actors and footlights. How much more we weren't sure so we asked Mr. Meredith, our Thespian Sponsor, to provide us with more information on the Theater. Here is his reply.

"Back of every successful theater production is a hard working conscientious production crew. Involved in the backstage work of every play are such important people as publicity, scenery, property, sound, lighting, make-up, and costume crews. Each of these must do its separate jobs; the publicity crew makes posters, creates programs and tickets, and sees that the public is made aware of the production; the scenery crew must design and build a functional stage set which complements the situation and dialogue in communicating the message of the play to the audience; the property crew must beg, borrow, steal or sometimes create the hand and stage properties which the actors will use in the production; the sound crew has the responsibility of creating and organizing the offstage sounds (such as dogs barking, geese honking, and babies crying) and rehearsing them to coincide with their proper place in the play; the lighting crew is responsible for creating and sustaining the proper lighting effects for the show as well as seeing that the house lights are turned on and off at the proper times; the primary job of the make-up crew is to emphasize the basic facial feature of each actor so that the strong stage lights don't make him look "Washed-out;" and it is the responsibility of the costume crew to design actors so that the dominant impression of the play is re-emphasized.

All these people must pool their efforts, then, to create an effective atmosphere in which the actors can communicate the drama to an audience."

On behalf of the faculty and the student body the Lowrey Light expresses its deepest sympathy to Mr. Charles Cady, assistant principal on the recent death of his wife.

Austrian Girl New To Lowrey

The Lowrey Light would like to introduce you to Anna Kakarev, 9A, who came to America with her parents three months ago from Vienna, Austria.

During our interview Anna was asked if she had any trouble expressing and understanding the English language. She pointed out that English was a required subject in her school in Vienna. Most of her difficulty, she said, was in understanding slang expressions.

Anna pointed out that students in Vienna have more respect for the teachers than the students here do. In Vienna the students stand and greet their teachers with a "Good morning." Anna also pointed out that in her opinion the classes are much easier here than they are in Vienna.

We finished our interview by asking Anna if she and her family liked America. "If we didn't, we don't come."

Award Winners

Lowrey musical students placed in the first three divisions at the Annual Music Festival held at Eastern Michigan University on Saturday, February 17, 1962.

First Division ratings were given to the following students: Vince Anichini and Michael Press, clarinet duet.

Lee Charron, flute solo.

Accompanying the soloists was Sharon Ausbury.

Second Division rating went to a brass sextet which included:

School Dropouts Face Problem

The number of jobless high school drop-outs has become an alarming problem in the United States. At the moment there are an estimated 1,000,000 jobless between 16 and 25. A majority of these are high school dropouts who have no diplomas and little or no training to qualify them for any but the most menial jobs.

The problem will get even bleaker. Some 2,500,000 of the 10,800,000 students now enrolled in the ninth through twelfth grades will leave school before graduation. Since these students will leave school with little or no training, the task of them finding decent jobs will be almost impossible for the number of unskilled jobs is getting fewer and fewer. Jobs in factories, stores, and even on farms that used to be open to kids with no particular training are disappearing. The majority of employers are extremely reluctant to hire a dropout because his lack of education makes it difficult to train him.

We think this problem which faces all high school drop outs is a very serious one. It is our hope and the hope of many that high school students give the idea a second thought before quitting school.

New Student Teacher

A former Lowrey student, Mr. Robert Duke, recently returned as a student teacher working with Mr. Keiffer in his afternoon physics and chemistry classes. Mr. Duke attended Lowrey from kindergarten through ninth grade. He graduated from Fordson High School. This January he graduated from the University of Michigan where he majored in chemistry. He plans to teach chemistry in the Detroit area.

Mr. Duke likes all sports, but his favorites are track and swimming and he was a middle distance runner on the University of Michigan track team at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Duke has no pet peeve but he does not like real short skirts or an excessive amount of make-up. His comment on the school was, "I enjoyed going to Lowrey and coming back and seeing all my old teachers." When asked how Lowrey has changed he replied, "The biggest change has been in the facilities."

Did You Know

The first "Jazz" music was created by William Handy who composed the "Memphis Blues" in 1912. He is known as the father of the blues. Other songs composed by Handy include "St. Louis Blues" and "Beale Street."

Beware The Ides? 14th Dangerous Too

BEWARE THE IDES! warned the soothsayer long ago. Well, it seems the Ides aren't a patch on the 14th of the month for dire events! There are some historians—or perhaps it is more correct to call them astrologers—who associate the 14th with disaster. Rotterdam fell and Holland stopped fighting on the 14th day of May, 1940. On June 14th the Nazis captured Paris, and on the 14th of November Coventry, including the cathedral, went up in flames.

The "Royal Ark" was sunk on the 14th of October, 1939.

The "Ark Royal" was destroyed in Nov. 14, 1941.

The "Titanic," queen of the seas, sank on April 14, 1912.

On July 14, 1789, the Bastille fell, sounding the death knell of the French monarchy.

The English explorer Captain James Cook met his gory death on the 14th of February, 1779. President William McKinley died of an assassin's bullet on the 14th of September, 1901. George Washington's death came on December 14, 1799. The doughty Duke of Wellington died on the 14th of September, 1852, and the great Strinberg died on the 14th of May, 1912.

The Ides, forsooth! Watch out for the 14th!

New Wood Shop Opened

Students recently moved into our new wood shop, and are currently working on individual projects. Some of the popular projects are coffee tables, end tables, trays, chalices, picture frames, and wall plaques.

A favorite project at this time of year is the making of water skis. Mr. Fretner, the wood shop instructor, informed us that the ski press was made in the old wood shop a few years ago by interested students and has since been used many times. A student can make a pair of skis for approximately $3, compared to the retail cost of about $8 and up.

The wood shop display in the new basement hall sports many of the projects made in the shop classes last semester. Following are some of these displayed projects: a set of wooden soldiers mounted on burlap by Feryle Waldemyer, a wooden case made by Ron Rzepka. Other entries were made by: Howard Blackburn, George Rosen-trater, Bob Ripp, Bill Vanitterson, Ronald Balint, Joe Saldanna, Mike Hart and Ed Rye.

Everyone seems pleased with the new shop and equipment, and Mr. Fretner said of it, "There is no reason why the boys shouldn't turn out some good projects."

Life Too Tough? It Could Be Worse!

Do you think your parents are too strict? Maybe you'll change your mind when you hear how different life is for teenagers in other parts of the world.

In Malaya, life is centered around school, the home, and sometimes a few friends.

Students in East Berlin study Russian, Math, Chemistry, and Physics. These subjects are most emphasized, but others are also very difficult. At the age of fourteen, students must take "Yugend Weile." (Youth oath to the state). Girls give up one day of school a week to work on a farm or factory (considered good jobs), but still have time for three or four hours of home work each day.

School vacations are in the spring and fall. These are called "potato vacations" because students work in the potato fields when school is out.

Teenagers in East Berlin don't attend church, are forbidden to dial any western radio stations, are forbidden to wear blue jeans, and are allowed no dancing, like rock and roll. Boys don't own cars, but ride motor bikes instead.

A typical date consists of going to one another's houses to watch television, going for a ride (on a motor bike), or to a movie.

Nineteen or twenty is the average age for a girl to marry.

A lot of American teenagers don't realize how lucky they are and lose their privileges by getting in trouble.

Specialists—Visit School

Lowrey had four very prominent visitors in the building Tuesday, February 27. The visitors, all educators, came from New York, Rochester, Wayne, and Lansing, and were invited by the Superintendent of Schools to study the Special Education Program for physical handicapped children.

The visitors were as follows: Dr. Mary Blair, Consultant, from Lansing, Michigan; Dr. Hermann Goldberg, Director of Special Education, from Rochester; Dr. Francis Conner, Professor, from Columbia University in New York; and Mrs. June England, Director of Special Education for Wayne.

It's A Fact

Porcelain teeth were introduced about 1785, due principally to the efforts of Dr. John Greenwood. Greenwood invented the foot power drill. One of his patients was George Washington.

In this week's issue the shadow has been following a senior boy. Read the description below, and guess who he is.

First Hour—He is busy in the art room, trying desperately for an art award.

Second Hour—He is trying to do his English.

Third Hour—He is busy trying to get his name in the paper.

Fourth Hour—He is active in woodshop making lopsided bowls.

Fifth Hour—He can be seen helping Sue eat her lunch.

Sixth Hour—He is struggling through his homework.

Seventh Hour—He is busy making speeches in Comm. Skills.

Student Teacher Welcomed!

We would like to introduce and welcome a new student teacher in Lowrey's commercial department. She is Miss Judith Trecha and she is working with Mr. McNamara. In June she will graduate from Central Michigan.

Miss Trechas' hobbies are bowling, dancing, and sports. Her hometown is Swartz Creek, Michigan.

When asked how she felt about teaching at Lowrey she replied: "I have found that the students and teachers have treated me just wonderfully. The students put me at the same level as their regular teacher."

Inquiring Reporter Asks Girls

About Boys

The Inquiring Reporter recently asked girls what qualities they admire most in boys. Answers are printed in this issue of the "Lowrey Light." In the next issue we will tell you what qualities boys admire most about girls.

Angie Bertucci, 12A-1 — "The things I admire most in a boy is how much respect he shows for a girl."

Marilyn Laidlaw, 11A-4 — "I admire these qualities: sincerity, courtesy, maturity and a good personality."

Diana Lawrence, 11A-4 — "I admire a boy who dresses neatly and is respectful of others."

Joanne Komer, 11A-4 — "I like a boy who is truthful when he has to tell a girl why he has not shown up for a date."

Judy Wright, 12A-8 — "In a boy I would like kindness, sincerity and manners."

Kathy Gurniak, 12A-4 — "The quality I like most is consideration. If a boy is considerate he makes a girl feel like a girl at all times."

Donna Perkins, 11A-6 — "I think a boy's best quality is truthfulness and sincerity! You can always count on him then."

Renate Riest, 12A-7 — "I would admire a boy for his truthfulness and mostly on his personality and attitude toward other people and myself."

Pennie Callway, 12A-2 — "The quality I most admire in a boy is having feelings for others."

Pat Grych, 12A-4 — "The quality I like most in a boy is tenderness."

Carole Baker, 12B-1 — "I feel that a boy should be honest with himself as well as with others."

Carol Wilke, 12A-8 — "I feel it's the way the guy treats the girl and how he shows his respect."

Janet Garcia, 11A-3 — "The thing I like best in a guy is the way he dresses."

Diane Cook, 11A-2 — "What I like most in a boy is some one with a good personality and a good sense of humor."

Cynthia Macie, 11A-5 — "I like a guy who can forgive and forget."

Marita Jacobs, 12A-4 — "He has to have a mature outlook on life."

Ina Savoy, 12A-7 — "The thing I admire most in a boy is his personality and the way he treats a girl."

Carole Hamacher, 12A-4 — "The qualities I look for in a guy is if he's a neat and sharp dresser and his personality."

Jeannette Bernard, 12B-1 — "Someone full of surprises and a good sense of humor."

Guess Who

Here's how one of our juniors in high school looked a few years ago. He still has the "I'll never tell" expression and the blond hair. He is on an industrial course and he is from district No. 7.

Junior Prom Plans

Plans for the Junior Prom are now under way. At a Junior class meeting, on February 22, committees for the dance were organized.

The ticket committee, which is headed by the president of the Junior class, Marty Hotvedt, is promoting the sale of tickets for the Spring Prom.

The refreshment committee is headed by Pat Van Assche, vice-president of the Junior class. The refreshments for the dance will be planned and ordered by this committee.

The chairman of the publicity committee is Diane Peirce, secretary of the Junior class. The publicity committee is starting to advertise the dance through posters. The publicity committee is working closely with the decorations committee in finding a theme for the dance. The decoration committee is headed by Kathy Dearvang, treasurer of the Junior class. This committee will decorate the Lowrey Ballroom according to the theme chosen for the dance.

The recent class meeting was called to let the Juniors know that plans for the Prom were in progress. All the Juniors were invited to join the committee of their choice.

The Junior class is trying to make the Prom a big success and is hoping for support from Seniors as well as Juniors.

Watch the future issues of the Lowrey Light for more news concerning the forthcoming Junior Prom.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club of Lowrey is sponsored by the Inter-Council of Future nurses of Detroit and the Tri-County League for nursing. The main purpose of the club is to get girl students interested in the field of medicine and help them toward a career in this field. Those belonging to this organization are urged to take part in the volunteer programs open in many hospitals. The club is open to girls in grades 10-12.

If any girls are interested, Mrs. Edwards, sponsor of the Club, is showing a movie, "The Valiant Heart", March 20th. The film comes through the courtesy of the Michigan Heart Association. The 28 minute film depicts the role of a public health nurse.

Mrs. Edwards urges everyone who is interested in medicine to join the club. Meetings are held the first and third Tuesday of each month in room 231. For further information contact Mrs. Edwards.

A Japanese Social At Lowrey

Over fifty students turned out to the Students International Organization meeting on Tuesday, February 27. A Japanese social meeting had been prepared with an oriental background.

Mrs. Kaufman, the sponsor of the club was really surprised at the large number of students who attended.

The club served refreshments of green tea, Brownies, seaweed sembei, rakka kakimochi, peanut maki, and sesame flavored cookies.

The room was filled with the ancient incense of Japan, while two Japanese ladies, Mrs. Shimizu and Mrs. Sakamoto, added color to the atmosphere. These ladies brought with them delicate works of fans, and glassworks to show. They acted out the ancient tea ceremony of how one would serve a visitor tea on a holiday.

Their dress was that of silk, made into the costume of a Japanese kimono. The Japanese ladies are visiting America with their husbands who are attending Wayne State University where they are majoring in medicine.

Mr. Anson Tabor who visited Japan last summer, showed some Japanese slides and gave valuable information about the country.

Mr. Dzovigian commented, "The presentation of the meeting was excellent. This meeting given by the students indicated to me, that we should have more of these social meetings in the school."

The meeting closed with a word of thanks from Mrs. Kaufman and Judy Gill, the president of the club.

SPRING SPORTS ON THE WAY

Baseball Begins Soon

This year's baseball season at Lowrey will open April 5, with an away game against Garden City. When asked what chance we have in the Twin Valley League, Mr. Rigotti said that since this is his first year as Varsity Coach he doesn't know what kind of a year the team will have. Our main troubles will come against Hamtramck and Ecorse. Baseball practice will begin on March 19, which leaves three weeks before the first game.

Rouge Too Strong

Lowrey's varsity basketball team lost its last Twin Valley League game of the season to powerful River Rouge, 79-33, on March 1, 1962, on River Rouge's home court.

At half time River Rouge pulled away ahead of Lowrey 46-6 but, during the third and fourth quarters Lowrey came back into the game, but Rouge was too powerful for them.

The high point man for Lowrey was Marty Hotvedt with 12 points and the high point man for River Rouge was Fred Hudson with 15 points.

Calling All Thinclads

The Track season at Lowrey will begin with a home game against Lutheran West on April 3. Mr. Currie the track coach, said there won't be too many returning lettermen but we should have a large turnout of boys. We haven't many long distance runners even though we should have a fair season. For the boys that are interested in going out for the track team, track practice will start on March 26.

There were twelve letter winners from the swimming team. They are as follows: Jim Stopa, Jim Stephans, Fred Messaro, Richard Merrano, Richard Lowe, Tim Fondren, Bill Kohl, 9B, Bill Pearch, 9B, Ken Osiecki, 9A, Fred Matchyinski, 9B, Tony Wycihowski, Tom Bayoff.

Mr. Oswalt said "The team had a very weak start but a strong finish. The flu hit us in mid-season but we still finished strong."

When asking Mr. Oswalt about next season he said, "Three lettermen will return from last season and I think we will have a fair team."

Trophies On Display

Lowrey's trophy case is located on the second floor near the Home Economics room in the middle of the hall.

There are 14 trophies in the show case which were won in the Twin Valley Conference. The trophies are as follows:

- Basketball—1952
- Swimming—1957
- Baseball—1952, '56, '57, '58, '59
- Tennis—1956, '57, '58
- Medley Relays—1957
- TVC Champ—1949
- Mile Track—1957

In 1953 Lowrey had a girl's bowling team, and they won a trophy that year.

This issue's sports spotlight is on Gary Johnson a 12A-4 from District No. 7. Gary plays on the Lowrey basketball team and has been in the Varsity Club for 2 years. He also is the Vice-President of the Varsity Club.

Gary's main hobby is cars. He also enjoys playing baseball and football.

Gary was asked what he had thought about next year's basketball teams. He replied, "I think that next year's teams will have is just rough as this year's teams, if we are still in the same league."

Gary who maintains a B average, is on a college preparatory course, and is majoring in English, science, math, and social science. His future plans are to attend Henry Ford Community College. And he will major in engineering.
